Arrangements to be of International Standard; Special Pavilion to Showcase Telangana's Culture and Progress: Minister Komatireddy Venkat Reddy

Hyderabad, Trinet News, November 2:

Minister for Roads and Buildings, Komatireddy Venkat Reddy, stated that the State Government is set to host the 85th Indian Roads Congress (IRC) with great prestige. He directed officials from all departments to work in coordination to ensure the success of the conference, which is scheduled to take place from the 19th to the 22nd of this month. He emphasized that the arrangements must meet international standards and that every department should pay special attention to ensure that guests face no inconvenience.

The IRC conference will be grandly inaugurated on the 19th of this month, with Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways, Nitin Gadkari, and Telangana Chief Minister, Revanth Reddy, attending as chief guests. The event will see the participation of several Union Ministers, Ministers of State, Ministers for Roads and Buildings from various states, representatives from different countries, and delegates from other states. In light of this, the Minister stressed the need for meticulous advance planning to ensure there are no lapses in arrangements for guest accommodation and transportation.

A Pavilion to Showcase Telangana's Culture and Progress

Komatireddy suggested the establishment of a dedicated 'Telangana Pavilion' to introduce the unique identity of Telangana to the national and international delegates attending the IRC conference. It was stated that the pavilion should be designed to reflect the state's culture, traditions, development, and progress made in the infrastructure sector.

Must be prepared to effectively tackle Cyclone Murasu

CM Chandrababu puts administrative machinery on high alert; reviews situation regarding heavy rains in South Coastal Andhra and Rayalaseema

Amaravati, Trinet News, November 2

Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu has directed the administrative machinery to remain on high alert to effectively handle the impact of Cyclone Murasu, which is approaching the coast of Andhra Pradesh. The Chief Minister conducted a review with officials and District Collectors via the Real-Time Governance Society (RTGS) to discuss cyclone preparedness, relief operations, the restoration of power systems, and water management. During the review, officials briefed the Chief Minister on the projected impact of the cyclone. They indicated that moderate to heavy rainfall is expected across the southern coastal districts and the Rayalaseema region. It was noted that rainfall in the catchment areas of the Nagarjuna Sagar and Pulichintala projects could lead to increased flood inflows; estimates suggest an inflow of approximately 13 to 15 TMC of water into these two projects.

The Chief Minister observed that many areas are gradually returning to normalcy following the devastation caused by the previous cyclone, Arnab. However, with the threat of another cyclone looming, he emphasized that there should be no lapse in vigilance, and instructed officials to ensure an effective response to the impact of Cyclone Murasu. Officials explained that the impact of Cyclone 'Murasu' is likely to be less severe compared to the previous cyclone, 'Arnab'.

During Cyclone 'Arnab', the power

Permanent Solution to Revenue-Forest Boundary Disputes Through Joint Surveys- Minister Ponguleti Srinivasa Reddy

Hyderabad, T-Net News, November 2:

Telangana State Minister for Revenue, Housing, and Information & Public Relations, Ponguleti Srinivasa Reddy, has emphasized the urgent need for a permanent resolution to boundary disputes between Revenue and Forest department lands. On Monday, he held a review meeting at the Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Secretariat with officials from the Revenue and Forest departments, as well as the Survey and Settlement department. Speaking on the occasion, the Minister stressed that ordinary citizens and farmers should not

National-Level Training on Public Health for Tribal Healers

Two-day event held at Kanha Shanti Vanam

550 participants from nine states and union territories take part in the first phase

Hyderabad, Trinet News, November 02: A national-level awareness and training program is being held at Kanha Shanti Vanam, near Hyderabad, aimed at fostering public health awareness within tribal communities and integrating traditional healers into the modern healthcare system. The initiative, titled 'Janhit,' was organized jointly by the Union Ministry of Tribal Affairs and the ICMR–National Institute of Health Research (NIHR), Bhubaneswar, on November 1st and 2nd.

This first-of-its-kind program was inaugurated by Manish Thakur, Additional Secretary in the Union Ministry of Tribal Affairs, and Dr. Sanghamitra Pati, Director of ICMR–NIHR. The event was attended by several senior officials, including B.M. Santhosh, Special Secretary and Director of the Telangana Tribal Welfare Department, and Dr. V. Samujwala, Director of the Tribal Cultural Research and Training Institute. The program commenced on the opening day of the 'Jan Jati Gaurav Paksh' (Tribal Pride Fortnight).

.Widespread Promotion Across the Country

The Minister directed that extensive publicity for the Indian Roads Congress (IRC) conference be carried out across all media platforms. He suggested installing hoardings and displaying special visual advertisements at Hyderabad Airport, metro stations, railway stations, and public transport hubs. He further instructed that promotional activities be undertaken at airports and metro stations in cities like Delhi, Mumbai, and Bengaluru. Officials were directed to devise a promotional strategy that ensures the IRC conference in Telangana gains significant recognition nationwide.

IRC as a Pre-Summit for 'Invest Telangana'

The Minister expressed his vision for the Indian Roads Congress to serve as a 'pre-summit' for the 'Invest Telangana' global summit—an event to be held in December at 'Bharat Future City' under the leadership of Chief Minister Revanth Reddy. He advised that the investment opportunities in Telangana be highlighted to the Union Ministers, ministers from various states, international delegates, and prominent industry leaders attendingthe IRC. Komatireddy Venkat Reddy has called upon everyone to work with the primary objective of attracting more investments to the state and showcasing the opportunities available in Telangana—particularly in infrastructure development—on both national and international platforms. He urged officials to ensure that the IRC (Indian Roads Congress) conference does not remain merely a technical gathering, but instead serves

In his submission, Reddy noted that the official CEO Telangana website has been non-functional since yesterday; the resulting suspension of online services is severely hindering the voter registration process for the Graduate MLC elections. He pointed out that eligible graduates are facing significant difficulties as they are unable to access the website to register as voters. With the deadline for graduate voter registration set for November 6, 2026, he expressed concern that the website's failure at this critical juncture could lead to thousands of eligible graduates losing the opportunity to exercise their right to vote.

He has called upon the election authorities to take immediate action to address this issue. A request has been made to immediately restore the CEO Telangana website and resume online voter registration services without any further delay. Furthermore, it has been requested that the deadline for graduate voter registration be extended by a period equal to the number of days the website remained non-functional. In his representation, Sama infrastructurefro Srikakulam to Krishna district sustained damage; officials noted that 31,000 electricity poles had been dispatched to the affected areas for restoration. It is estimated that Cyclone 'Murasu' could potentially damage up to 8,000 electricity poles across the South Coastal Andhra and Rayalaseema districts. The Chief Minister directed that electricity department personnel and necessary equipment be kept on standby to handle any situation. Furthermore, the Chief Minister instructed officials to make effective use of the rainfall brought by the cyclone. He ordered that measures be taken to fill local tanks and ponds in regions including Guntur, Bapatla, Palnadu, Prakasam, Nellore, and Markapuram. He emphasized the need for efficient water management to store as much water as possible in various reservoirs across the South Coastal and Rayalaseema basins. Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu advised that proactive measures be taken to ensure the public does not face any hardships due to the cyclone, and stressed that the administrative machinery must remain accessible on the ground at all times. While officials confirmed that the administration is already prepared to tackle Cyclone 'Murasu', the Chief Minister directed them to continuously monitor the situation and take necessary actions as required.

Stay Alert Regarding Cyclone 'Murasu'

In view of Cyclone 'Murasu', Pawan Kalyan held a review meeting with officials from the departments under his purview—Panchayat Raj, Rural Development, and Rural Water Supply. He instructed that the District Collectors of the affected areas be put on alert and directed them to coordinate with the Police, Revenue, and Electricity departments to carry out relief operations. He emphasized the immediate relocation of residents living in low-lying areas to safer locations and the establishment of rehabilitation centers wherever necessary. During the review, officials briefed the Deputy Chief Minister on the cyclone's trajectory and the prevailing weather conditions. Initially expected to make landfall between Bapatla and Machilipatnam, the cyclone has shifted its course and is now likely to cross the coast near Nellore. Heavy rains are already being reported in the districts of Nellore, Prakasam, Bapatla, Tirupati, and Markapuram. According to the Meteorological Department, the cyclone is expected to make landfall this afternoon, accompanied by strong winds reaching speeds of 100 to 120 kmph. Authorities have warned of the potential for flash floods due to extremely heavy rainfall. As a precautionary measure, six NDRF teams and seven SDRF teams have been deployed and kept on standby. Warnings have also been issued to residents living in low-lying areas.

Special Precautions for Rural Areas

Pawan Kalyan has directed officials to ensure that the supply of drinking water to rural areas remains uninterrupted despite the impact of the cyclone. He instructed that immediate repairs be carried out if rural roads are damaged or culverts are washed away by the rains. He further emphasized the need for the prompt removal of fallen trees from roads to restore connectivity. He explicitly stated that warning signs should be installed near hazardous roads and low-level causeways. Additionally, he advised continuous monitoring of water flow in streams and rivulets, and urged officials to take measures to prevent people from approaching areas where water is flowing with high intensity. He directed that warning signs be placed wherever necessary and emphasized the importance of sanitation in villages. He also instructed officials to take measures to prevent the stagnation of rainwater and to prepare an advance action plan for carrying out bleaching and chlorination as soon as the rains subside.

Ensure no disruption to power and medical services

Pawan Kalyan advised electricity department personnel to remain on high alert, as the cyclonic winds could cause a large number of utility poles to collapse. He directed them to keep the necessary staff and equipment ready to restore power supply as quickly as possible in areas where it might be disrupted. He further instructed the Health Department to make adequate arrangements to ensure that emergency medical services remain uninterrupted.

He advised that these field-level surveys be carried out using modern technology and scientific methods to clearly demarcate land boundaries. The Minister noted that by establishing boundaries scientifically, such disputes can be resolved permanently, preventing any future conflicts. He further revealed that the government is implementing comprehensive reforms through the Survey, Settlement, and Land Records department to further strengthen land administration in the state. Minister Ponguleti Srinivasa Reddy emphasized that the primary objective of his government is to ensure complete transparency and accuracy in land records.

The Minister directed officials to work with coordination and dedication—ensuring that the general public faces no inconvenience—to swiftly resolve long-standing land disputes that have persisted for decades. He urged farmers and the public to extend their cooperation during the survey process at the field level. Furthermore, he instructed that committees, comprising officials from the Revenue and Forest departments, be formed at the district and mandal levels to carry the work forward. The meeting was attended by Revenue Secretary Lokesh Kumar, Commissioner of Survey and Settlement Rajiv Gandhi Hanumanthu, and PCCF Vinay Kumar, among others.

National-Level Training on Public Health for Tribal Healers

contd..from Page-1Approximately 550 traditional tribal healers from Andhra Pradesh, Goa, Karnataka, Kerala, Maharashtra, Odisha, Tamil Nadu, Telangana, and Dadra & Nagar Haveli are participating in the first phase of this training. They were selected by the tribal welfare departments of their respective states. The primary objective of this training is to raise awareness about common illnesses, help identify warning signs early, and provide guidance on ensuring that patients are referred to hospitals in a timely manner when necessary.

The two-day program covers various topics through three training modules, including infectious diseases, vector-borne diseases (such as those spread by mosquitoes), skin conditions, non-communicable diseases, metabolic disorders, blood-related ailments, liver diseases, and mental health issues. Participants are also instructed on the importance of referring patients for appropriate medical care in cases of snakebites, scorpion stings, bites from other venomous insects, animal attacks, or physical injuries. Additionally, the training addresses eye and ear problems, oral health, and the care of newborns and young children.

To ensure the content is easily understood, the training sessions are conducted in the regional languages ??of the respective states. The initiative involves contributions from organizations such as AIIMS, ICMR, the Quality Council of India, and others. Experts from the Swaminathan Foundation, the Amrita Institute in Kochi, IIHMR in Bengaluru, and Piramal Swasthya in Maharashtra are providing the training.

This program has been designed to recognize the social role of traditional tribal healers and to strengthen their collaboration with the formal healthcare system, ensuring that people receive timely and appropriate medical care. The training includes practical sessions, refresher modules, post-training evaluations, and the collection of feedback from participants. Certificates will be awarded to the participants during the concluding ceremony on November 2nd.

New Initiatives to Strengthen the Dairy Sector in Sikkim

Projects and programs worth Rs 251.56 lakh to be launched

Union Minister Rajiv Ranjan Singh to visit on November 2–3

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 2:

Union Minister for Fisheries, Animal Husbandry, and Dairying, Rajiv Ranjan Singh (also known as Lalan Singh), is set to visit the Gangtok and Mangan districts of Sikkim on November 2 and 3. During this visit, he will inaugurate projects and development initiatives valued at Rs 251.56 lakh.

As part of his visit, the Minister will review dairy development programs in the state. He will inaugurate a microbiology laboratory established for the Sikkim Milk Union under the National Dairy Development Programme. Under the 'White Revolution 2.0' (Shweta Kranti 2.0), he will initiate the formation of 57 new dairy cooperative societies and present registration certificates to five newly registered societies. Additionally, he will launch an initiative to establish 15 more dairy cooperative societies in North Sikkim.

The Minister will also unveil a traceability program designed to track the origin and production details of 'Chhurpi' cheese—a product manufactured in the Gangtok and Jorethang regions. Under the Central Government's scheme for 10,000 Farmer Producer Organizations (FPOs), two 'Fodder Plus' FPOs will be promoted in affiliation with the Sikkim Milk Union.

As part of product diversification and value addition, the Minister will unveil organic honey, a powder blend containing wild sesame seeds, and organic biscuits and confectionery made from millets and buckwheat. These initiatives are intended to create broader market opportunities for local products.

The visit will involve senior officials from the Government of Sikkim, the Mangan district administration, representatives from the Union Ministry of Fisheries, Animal Husbandry and Dairying, officials from relevant departments, representatives from the National Dairy Development Board (NDDB), as well as dairy farmers, cooperative societies, and Farmer Producer Organizations.

Sikkim plays a significant role in the development of the dairy sector in the Northeastern region. In 2024–25, the state's milk production was recorded at approximately 89.35 thousand metric tonnes, with a per capita daily milk availability of about 352 grams. Since 2014, the Central Government has released Rs 7,093.99 lakh under the 'Rashtriya Gokul Mission' to foster the development of the dairy sector in the state. Additionally, a special project worth Rs 2,763.92 lakh has been sanctioned for the development and conservation of the local 'Siri' cattle breed.

Furthermore, Rs 100 lakh was released in 2023–24 for the development and conservation of yaks. An additional Rs 100 lakh has been released under the Rashtriya Gokul Mission for the current financial year 2026–27 for the procurement of male yaks with superior genetic quality.

The Centre has sanctioned nine projects in Sikkim under the National Programme for Dairy Development, with an outlay of Rs 59.60 crore. Of this, the Centre's share is Rs 54.61 crore; so far, Rs 53.59 crore has been released, out of which Rs 52.61 crore has been utilized.

Under the National Livestock Mission, since the 2020–21 financial year, financial assistance has been provided as follows: Rs 1,914.39 lakh for fodder production, Rs 530.62 lakh for livestock insurance, Rs 408.64 lakh for breed improvement of sheep, goats, and pigs, and Rs 359.80 lakh for training and extension activities.

The initiatives to be undertaken during the Minister's visit are expected to strengthen the livelihoods of dairy farmers and livestock rearers, improve supply chains, and create opportunities for additional income. By securing a premium for local products and facilitating access to international markets, these efforts will contribute to the sustainable development of the state's dairy and animal husbandry sectors.

Congress candidate for the Graduate MLC constituency, Sama Rammohan Reddy, extends support to IDBI Bank employees' hunger strike

Hyderabad, Trinet News, November 02:

On Monday, IDBI Bank employees staged a hunger strike at the Indira Park Dharna

Chowk to protect their rights and protest against the privatization of the bank and the stance of the Central Government. Sama Rammohan Reddy, the Congress candidate for the Hyderabad-Rangareddy-Mahabubnagar Graduate MLC constituency, joined the employees to express his support and condemned the Central Government's move to privatize IDBI Bank. He strongly criticized the government's attempt to privatize the bank—which is now consistently posting profits—pointing out that the Centre had previously brought in LIC as a partner when the bank was incurring losses. He further alleged that the BJP-led government is conspiring to hand over the bank to the Fairfax Group at a dirt-cheap price, in complete violation of established regulations.

Special Digital Safety Initiative for Children in Air Force Schools

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02:

A special digital safety initiative has been introduced in Indian Air Force (IAF) schools to protect students from online threats. The Indian Air Force Educational and Cultural Society, operating under the IAF headquarters, has launched the 'ScrollControl' program in collaboration with the Information Sharing and Analysis Center (ISAC) Foundation. In observance of National Cybersecurity Awareness Month, 42 Air Force schools across the country have been included in this initiative.

A total of 261 teachers from these schools have completed certification training to become 'Cyber ??Crime Intervention Officers.' They were trained on how to protect students from risks such as online exploitation, the misuse of artificial intelligence, gaming-related harms, and financial fraud. The training has equipped them to act as first responders—capable of securing digital evidence in the event of a cybercrime and providing initial assistance to victims. With the increased accessibility of affordable high-speed internet, smart devices, and social media, students are venturing extensively into the digital world. Children often encounter various risks on online platforms—primarily designed for adults—that lack adequate safeguards. In this context, this initiative has been developed to foster awareness and response capabilities regarding cyber safety within schools.

The CBSE has directed affiliated schools to observe 'Cyber ??Jagrukta Diwas' (Cyber ??Awareness Day) every month and implement best practices for cyber safety. To ensure the effective execution of these guidelines by trained teachers, 'ScrollControl' will provide support to Air Force schools.

The initiative facilitates the establishment of cyber clubs in schools, provides training and certification for students on cyber safety, and includes awareness sessions for parents and staff. A content-rating platform will also be made available to families to help them identify digital content appropriate for their children's age. Schools that meet the prescribed standards will have the opportunity to be recognized as a 'Cyber ??Safe School.'

The iSAC Foundation is providing training and certification for teachers, as well as facilitating their empanelment in a national security database. This program also provides a facility to offer 24/7 assistance to victims through a system comprising cyber lawyers, cyber psychologists, and forensic experts.

Eight State-of-the-Art Warships for the Indian Navy

Ministry of Defence signs agreements worth Rs 53,866.50 crore with GRSE and GSL

Indigenous design and construction to boost 'Atmanirbhar Bharat' (self-reliance) in the defence sector

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02:

To further strengthen the capabilities of the Indian Navy, the Ministry of Defence has entered into key agreements for the procurement of eight Next-Generation Corvettes. The contracts, valued at a total of Rs 53,866.50 crore, were signed on Monday at Kartavya Bhawan-2 in New Delhi with Garden Reach Shipbuilders & Engineers Ltd (GRSE) and Goa Shipyard Ltd (GSL), in the presence of Defence Secretary Rajesh Kumar Singh.

Under the terms of the agreements, GRSE will construct five corvettes, while GSL will build the remaining three. This marks the first project in which vessels—designed indigenously by the Indian Navy—are to be constructed by public sector defence undertakings selected through a competitive bidding process. The project represents a significant milestone in the nation's capacity for the design and construction of indigenous warships.

These next-generation corvettes will be equipped with state-of-the-art missiles, weaponry, and sensor systems. These assets are being designed to counter threats from the air, the sea surface, and underwater. They will play a crucial role in protecting maritime trade routes, conducting combat operations against enemy vessels and submarines, and ensuring coastal defense. Furthermore, they will be tasked with combat operations, patrolling, and surveillance duties in near-shore waters.

This project will provide a significant boost to the domestic shipbuilding sector. It will further strengthen collaboration among public sector defense organizations, private shipyards, Indian industrial partners, and Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs).

It is estimated that the construction of these vessels over the next decade will generate approximately 7.2 million man-days of employment within shipyards, and an additional 46 million man-days across allied industries and MSMEs. The project will prioritize the use of indigenously manufactured materials and equipment, homegrown technology, and the expertise of Indian professionals.

These agreements represent another vital step toward achieving self-reliance in defense production. The project will further reinforce the 'Make in India' and 'Atmanirbhar Bharat' (Self-Reliant India) initiatives championed by the government led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Minister Vivek Venkataswamy Inspects Preparations for Global Summit

Hyderabad, Trinet News, November 02:

State Minister Vivek Venkataswamy conducted an on-site inspection of the preparations for the upcoming Global Summit to be held at the Skill University. During the visit, he inquired about the progress of the ongoing development works and the establishment of infrastructure within the university campus.

The Minister instructed officials to proceed with a comprehensive action plan to ensure the success of this international-level summit. He directed that all tasks be completed within the stipulated deadlines, emphasizing that the arrangements must be flawless. He further stressed that officials from all departments must work in coordination to ensure that the dignitaries and delegates arriving from within the country and abroad face no inconvenience. The Minister urged a focused approach toward making the necessary arrangements to host the Global Summit in a prestigious manner.

Coal Production Grows by 42% in October

22.03 Million Tonnes Produced from Captive and Commercial Mines
Coal Dispatch Rises by 36%;NumberofOperational Mines Reaches 87

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02: Captive andcommercial coal mines in the country have recorded significant growth in both production and dispatch.InOctober2024, coal production from these mines reached 22.03 milliontonnes-an increase of approximately 42% compared to the 15.49 million tonnes recorded in the same month last year. Coal dispatch also saw a growth of about 36%, risingfrom15.48milliontonnes to 21.11 million tonnes.

For the period from April to October of the current financial year, coal production stood at 117.23 million tonnes,marking an 11.30% increase over the 105.33 million tonnes produced during the same period in the previous financial year. During this same timeframe, coal dispatch grew by 11.53%, increasing from 111.95 million tonnes to 124.86 million tonnes.

The Ministry of Coal stated that these results were driven by improved operational efficiency, higher productivity, and more effective utilization of existingminingcapacity. Meanwhile, the Lohari coal mineinJharkhand received approval to commence operations in October. The Ministry stated that the granting of this approval—for a mine that had been awaiting the start of operations for several years—reflects the positive impact of reforms aimed at 'ease of doing business.' With this, the total number of operational captive and commercial coal mines has reached 87.

The increasing production from these mines will help reduce reliance on imported coal and contribute to saving foreign exchange. By enhancing the availability of coal—a critical resource for industrial development—and strengthening the supply chain, this initiative will supportthegoalof achievingan 'Atmanirbhar Bharat' (Self-Reliant India).

The Ministry of Coal has indicated that it will remain focused on sustaining production growth to meet the country's rising energy and industrial requirements. Through policy interventions, effective regulatory oversight, and collaboration with stakeholders, the Ministry aims to address supply bottlenecks and improve the availability of coal.

Sacred Relics of the Buddha Arrive at Tawang Monastery

CM Pema Khandu extends a traditional welcome
Devotees will have the opportunity for darshan in Tawang, Bomdila, and Namsai

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02:

Anexhibition of the sacred relics of the Buddha—a symbol of the Buddhist spiritualandculturalheritageinArunachal Pradesh—hascommenced.OnOctober 31, Chief Minister Pema Khandu extended a traditional welcome to the sacredrelicsofShakyamuni Buddha, which were brought from the National Museum in New Delhi. The event, held at the historic Gaden Namgyal Lhatse(TawangMonastery), was attended by Union Minister for Culture and Tourism Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, along with Buddhist monks, religious leaders, and devotees.

The initiative is being jointly organized by the Union Ministry of Culture, theGovernmentofArunachalPradesh,theInternational Buddhist Confederation, and the National Museum. Devotees and the general public will have the opportunityto view and pay their respects to the sacred relics in Tawang, Bomdila, and Namsai.

Ina message on this occasion,PrimeMinisterNarendra Modi expressed his happiness regarding the exhibition of the Buddha's sacred relics in Arunachal Pradesh, describing it as an event of great spiritual and cultural significance. It is a matter of great pride that the sacred Piprahwa relics have returned to their homeland after an interval of more than a century. It is believed that this exhibition will further enhance the understanding of India's Buddhist heritage and the universal teachings of the Buddha.

The timing of this exhibition holds special spiritual significance, as it coincideswith'LhababDuchen' a holy day in the Tibetan Buddhist tradition that commemorates the Buddha's return to Earth from the celestial realm.

These sacred relics originate from the archaeological site of Piprahwa in Uttar Pradesh. Associated with ancient Kapilavastu and the Buddha's Shakya lineage, this site occupies a significant place in Buddhist history. Preserved at the National Museum, these relics hold immense historical, archaeological, and spiritual importance.

In conjunction with the main event, a special exhibition titled 'Unearthing the Sacred Piprahwa: The Story of the Holy Buddha Relics and Their Discovery' is being organized. It will detail the archaeological explorations at Piprahwa, the significance of venerating these sacred relics, their historical journey, and the circumstances surrounding their return to India. The International Buddhist Confederation, in collaboration with the Government of Arunachal Pradesh, will host an international conference on November 2 at the Kalawangpo Convention Hall in Tawang, themed "Buddhism: Its Spread in the Himalayan Region and Beyond."

The sacred relics will be placed for public viewing at Tawang Monastery from November 1 to 7, at the TGL Monastery (Lower Gompa) in Bomdila from November 8 to 13, and at the Golden Pagoda in Namsai from November 14 to 20. On November 21, they will be returned to the National Museum in New Delhi.

The objective of this initiative is to bring the Buddha's message of peace, compassion, nonviolence, and harmony to the public, while also fostering a deeper connection between the communities of the Northeast and India's Buddhist heritage. This exhibition will contribute to strengthening India's historical and spiritual ties with Buddhist

Discussions on Strengthening India-EU Trade Ties

Rajesh Agrawal holds meetings withsenior European Commission officials in Brussels
Focus on market opportunities, customs cooperation, and green technology

NewDelhi,Trinet News, November 02:

UnionCommerceSecretaryRajesh Agrawal held high-level meetings in Brussels aimed at further strengthening trade and investment relations between India and the European Union. Discussions with European Commission officials and industry representatives focused on key areas such as trade facilitation, market access, the resilience of supply chains, and sustainable development.

In a meeting with Ditte Juul-Jørgensen, Director-General for Trade and Economic Security at the European Commission, the two sides discussed measures to boost bilateral trade. The talks covered creating new opportunities for Indian and EU businesses, improving market access, and enhancing the resilience of supply chains against disruptions. Both sides reaffirmed their commitment to achieving a fair, balanced, and mutually beneficial agreement. They also agreed to continue ongoing consultations to resolve remaining procedural and implementation-related issues. In a meeting with Koen Doens, Director General for International Partnerships, views were exchanged on India-EU development cooperation and their strategic partnership. Discussions focused on expanding collaboration in areas such as sustainable development, clean energy, green technology, and other related sectors.

During a meeting with Gerassimos Thomas, Director General for Taxation and Customs Union, the focus was on customs cooperation, trade facilitation, and preparations for the implementation of an India-EU Free Trade Agreement. Both sides acknowledged the need for efficient, transparent, and digital customs procedures to reduce the cost of business transactions and ensure the smooth flow of legitimate trade.

Rajesh Agrawal also met with representatives from the diamond industry. Discussions with stakeholders from the Antwerp diamond sector covered the global diamond value chain, certification standards, methods for tracing the origin of diamonds, and responsible sourcing. He highlighted the opportunities presented by India's expanding diamond market and manufacturing sector. India and Belgium have identified the gems and jewellery sector as a key area for further cooperation, with Antwerp, Mumbai, and Surat serving as major hubs for the diamond trade. The Commerce Secretary also participated in a roundtable meeting organized by BusinessEurope with representatives from European industry. Discussions focused on expanding trade and investment, improving market access, strengthening supply chains, and fostering cooperation within the framework of a free trade agreement. The Secretary highlighted India's robust economic growth, ongoing reforms, and investment opportunities across key sectors. European companies were invited to expand their business ties with India and become partners in its burgeoning manufacturing and supply chain ecosystems.

These meetings reflected the deepening cooperation between India and the EU across areas such as trade, investment, development partnerships, taxation, and customs. Both sides reaffirmed their commitment to further strengthening their strategic partnership.

New Delhi, Trainet News, November 02:

The Union Ministry of Rural Development has notified new rules to ensure that public grievances related to the implementation of rural employmentandlivelihooschemes are addressed transparently and within a stipulated timeframe. Under the ‘Viksit Bharat – Guarantee for Rozgar and Aajeevika Mission(Gramin)’(VB-G Ram Ji) framework, the ‘GrievanceRedressalRules-2026’ have been introduced. The rules mandate that an inquiry into any grievance must be completed within seven working days from the date of receipt, and the matter must be resolved within 15 days.

State governments are required to establish a multi-tiergrievance redressal system at the Gram Panchayat, Block, and District levels. Designated GrievanceRedressalOfficers at these respective levels will be responsible for receiving,registering, investigating, and resolving complaints. At the districtlevel,theDistrictProgrammeCoordinator will oversee this entire process.

Any individual may file a complaint regarding any aspect concerning the implementation of the scheme. Several channels have been made available for submitting complaints, including direct submission to the concerned official, sending via Speed Post (with proof of delivery), or registering through a digital platform specified by the Central Government. Complaints may also be accepted via telephone, dedicated helplines, or other methods determined by the State Government.

Complaints received in physical form at the Gram Panchayat, block, or district level must be registered on the digital platform on the same day. If this is not possible, they must be registered by the next working day. Subsequently, the complainant must be provided with a receipt containing the complaint registration number, the date of receipt, and the designation of the official who received it. For complaints submitted digitally, the receipt should be provided in electronic form, while for those submitted physically, a physical receipt should be issued.

The regulations clarify that the registration of a complaint cannot be refused on the grounds of its format, language, method of submission, or any procedural irregularities. This provision ensures that people can bring their issues to the attention of officials without facing procedural hurdles.

Every registered complaint must be examined by the concerned official, who shall conduct the necessary inquiry. For this purpose, the official may request relevant records, registers, documents, reports, or electronic information. Where necessary, the complainant must be given an adequate opportunity to present their case, either in person or through electronic means. Once an inquiry is concluded, the findings must be documented, and corrective or remedial actions must be taken in accordance with the law and relevant regulations. The outcomes of the inquiry and the actions taken must be recorded on a digital platform and also communicated to the complainant. For complaints received in physical (offline) form, the details regarding their resolution must also be provided in a physical format.

A facility will be provided to track every stage of the process—from the initial registration of a complaint to its final resolution—via a digital platform. If a complaint remains unresolved within the stipulated 15-day timeframe, it will be escalated to a higher level through the state government’s grievance redressal system. Electronic monitoring will continue until such complaints are fully resolved.

Provision has also been made to file appeals against orders issued by the grievance redressal system. The process for filing and resolving appeals will be governed by Schedule 1 of the VB-G Ram Ji Act, 2025.

The Union Ministry of Rural Development stated that the objective of these regulations is to establish an accessible and accountable grievance redressal system for the public. The Ministry noted that these measures will help improve responsiveness in the implementation of schemes, while also strengthening the rights and entitlements of rural households.

Progress by DPIIT in Resolving Public Grievances

Over 99% of grievances resolved under 'Special Campaign 6.0'
83% of identified e-files closed

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02:

The Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) has made significant progress under 'Special Campaign 6.0'—an initiative aimed at institutionalizing cleanliness in workplaces and reducing pendency. As of October 28, the department had resolved over 99% of the identified public grievances and closed approximately 83% of the e-files marked for review.

DPIIT, along with its attached and subordinate offices, undertook this initiative under the guidance of the Department of Administrative Reforms and Public Grievances (DARPG). Systematic measures were taken to address pending matters—including those referred by the Prime Minister’s Office (PMO), the Union Cabinet, Members of Parliament, and state governments—as well as public grievancesandrelated appeals.

The department reported that, as of October 28, more than 50% of the matters received from the Prime Minister’s Office hadbeenresolved.Additionally, approximately 75% of the issues originating from the Union Cabinet, inter-ministerial committees, and state governments were addressed.

Furthermore, over 80% of the appeals filed regarding public grievances have been resolved. As part of efforts to improve records management, approximately 83 percent of the identified e-files have been closed. The Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) stated that these measures have contributed to better office hygiene and a more conducive working environment for both officials and staff.

The preparatory phase for 'Special Campaign 6.0' was conducted from September 15 to 30, followed by the implementation phase from October 2 to 31. The initiative raised awareness among government employees regarding the importance of cleanliness, efficient records management, and the timely resolution of pending matters.

DPIIT affirmed its commitment to maintaining cleanliness as an ongoing process across all its attached and subordinate offices, while also focusing on reducing the backlog of pending tasks. The ultimate goal, the department noted, is to strengthen the office system to ensure greater efficiency and a more rapid response to the needs of the public.

Diverse Opinions Are the Strength of Democracy: Om Birla
The Welfare of the Last Person in Society Should Be the Goal of Public Representatives

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02:

Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla stated that both consensus and diverse opinions are crucial in a healthy democracy. He advised public representatives to welcome and respect dissent—which allows for new ideas and helps identify shortcomings in governance. He emphasized that, transcending political, party, or ideological differences, the progress of the state and the nation should be the common goal for everyone.

OmBirlainauguratedthe‘JanapratinidhiSammelan’(PublicRepresentatives’ Conference) held in Panchkula on Monday, organized by the Haryana Legislative Assembly as part of the ‘SamvidhanPakshotsav’(Constitution Fortnight) celebrations. Addressing current and former legislators as well as former ministers, he remarked that Haryana’s six-decade-long journey of development stands as a testament to the strength and resilience of Indian democracy.

He commended the farmers of Haryana for adopting modern agricultural technology and contributing to the nation’s food security. He also praised the youth of the state for their courage in the defense of the nation, as well as the athletes for their achievements on international sporting stages.

Birla noted that the Constitution of India is not merely a guiding framework for governance; it serves as the soul of the nation and a moral compass. He stated that elected representatives have a responsibility to uphold the constitutional values ??that have kept the nation united amidst its linguistic, cultural, and religious diversity.

He clarified that the responsibility to serve the public does not end simply because a legislator’s term has concluded. He suggested that governance should be viewed as a tool for empowering people at the grassroots level. He noted that the true measure of public life lies in bringing about tangible social and economic change in the lives of the most vulnerable sections of society. He also commended the Haryana Legislative Assembly for setting an exemplary standard in conducting meaningful debates and maintaining legislative decorum.

The event was attended by Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini, Assembly Speaker Harvinder Kalyan, Leader of the Opposition Bhupinder Singh Hooda, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Mahipal Dhanda, and Deputy Speaker Dr. Krishan Lal Middha.

Transform the IRC Conference into a platform for Telangana's progress and for attracting investments

The 85th Indian Roads Congress (IRC) conference should be organized in a way that showcases Telangana's culture and development to the world.
A grand inauguration is scheduled for the morning of the 19th, to be conducted by Union Minister Nitin Gadkari and Chief Minister Revanth Reddy.
The IRC will serve as a pre-summit event for the 'Invest Telangana' Global Summit.
A dedicated "Telangana Pavilion" must be set up, and extensive promotional campaigns should be carried out in major cities across the country.

Work on HAM (Hybrid Annuity Model) road projects and TIMS (Telangana Institute of Medical Sciences) hospitals must be accelerated; the TIMS facility in Alwal and the Super Specialty Hospital in Warangal should be prepared for inauguration within this year.

Minister Komatireddy Venkat Reddy conducts an extensive three-and-a-half-hour review of the Roads and Buildings Department and IRC preparations.

Hyderabad,TrinetNews November 02:

State Minister for Roads & Buildings and Cinematography, Komatireddy Venkat Reddy, has directed officials to ensure that various development projects under the Roads and Buildings Department are completed within the stipulated deadlines and in compliance with quality standards.On Monday, the Minister held an extensive review meeting lasting about three-and-a-half hours with senior officials of the Roads and Buildings Department at the Dr. B.R. Ambedkar State Secretariat.
During the meeting, he reviewed the progress of road construction projects being undertaken across the state and instructed officials to expedite the work, ensuring there are no delays. The Minister also conducted a dedicated review of the major hospital construction projects currently underway in the state. He directed that the construction of the TIMS Hospital in Alwal and the Super Specialty Hospital in Warangal be expedited, ensuring they are made accessible to the public within this year. Furthermore, he emphasized the need for the swift completion of the Osmania General Hospital project, the expansion of NIMS, and the construction of the new High Court building.
The Minister underscored that the primary objective of this people-centric government is to provide the public with improved transportation and medical facilities. He instructed officials to prioritize every project related to these sectors and ensure they are advanced with focused attention.

Hyderabad should be a clean and traffic-free city Do not be negligent regarding waste collection

Green tankers to be deployed as per requirementPay special attention to traffic regulationChief Minister Revanth Reddy

Hyderabad, Trinet News, November 02:

Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy has directed officials to transform the Hyderabad metropolitan area into a clean and traffic-free city. On Monday, the CM held a review meeting with municipal officials at his residence in Jubilee Hills to discuss various issues. He instructed officials to ensure that no garbage is visible anywhere in the city and emphasized the need for continuous monitoring of waste collection. He directed that necessary measures be taken to ensure daily door-to-door waste collection and stated that strict action should be taken against those who show negligence. He also called for special arrangements to be made for the removal of construction debris. Furthermore, he advised officials to coordinate with industrial area associations (IAAs) to facilitate waste collection within industrial zones. The CM also instructed officials to raise awareness about the effective use of 'green tankers'—which supply treated water from Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs)—for purposes such as construction activities, park maintenance, landscaping, and gardening across the city. The Chief Minister noted that drinking water is currently being used for purposes such as construction, maintenance of greenery, and the development of parks; he suggested that this could be avoided by using treated water from Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) instead, thereby conserving drinking water. He recalled that the Water Board has already initiated a service using 28 'green water' (treated wastewater) tankers, sourced from 19 STPs, as a first phase. The Chief Minister directed that the supply of this 'green water' be further expanded across the jurisdictions of the GHMC, CMC, and MMC. Furthermore, he instructed officials to take necessary measures to address traffic congestion and transform the city into a 'traffic-free' urban space. He emphasized the need for effective traffic regulation and suggested preparing plans for the construction of underpasses and elevated corridors to create a signal-free system. The objective, he stated, is to ensure the continuous flow of vehicles, preventing traffic from stalling at signals. The review meeting was attended by MP Vem Narender Reddy, CM Secretary Manik Raj, HMDA Commissioner Sarfaraz Ahmed, Cyberabad Municipal Corporation Commissioner G. Srujana, and others.

Bury the Congress in Telangana and form a BJP government: Amit Shah
We will drive out infiltrators from the country; Congress is conspiring to obstruct the SIR process.

Hyderabad,TrainetNews, November 02:

Union Home Minister Amit Shah launched a scathing attack on the Congress party and Rahul Gandhi. He criticized the rallies being held by the Congress—ostensibly against "vote theft"—arguing that their true purpose is to protect infiltrators. He clarified that the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) process is being undertaken with the objective of ensuring that only eligible citizens possess the right to vote in the country. He warned that regardless of the efforts made by Rahul Gandhi and Telangana Chief Minister Revanth Reddy, every single infiltrator will be driven out of the nation.

Amit Shah recalled that it was the bold decisions taken by Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel that led to Hyderabad becoming an integral part of India. He credited Patel with ending the Nizam's rule and facilitating the integration of Hyderabad into India. Shah also took aim at the 'Vote Bachao' (Save the Vote) rally organized by Rahul Gandhi in Delhi, mocking it by stating that it was not a 'Vote Bachao' rally, but rather a rally intended to protect infiltrators. He alleged that infiltrators have become a 'vote bank' for the Congress party, which is why the party is attempting to halt the SIR (Special Intensive Revision) process. He explained that the SIR process is being used to remove irregularities and duplicate entries from the electoral rolls. Responding to Rahul Gandhi's claim that 13 crore votes were deleted, he clarified that 4.25 crore individuals had registrations in two different locations, 3 crore individuals were deceased, 1 crore had duplicate entries, and another 3 crore entries belonged to individuals who could not be located. He questioned whether such entries should be allowed to remain on the electoral rolls.

BJP's victories are due to public support

Amit Shah refuted Rahul Gandhi's assertion that the BJP wins elections because of the SIR process. He pointed out that the SIR process did not exist when Narendra Modi became Prime Minister in 2014, nor was it conducted in 2019. He challenged Rahul Gandhi to explain how the BJP won those elections. He asserted that the BJP's victories in Maharashtra, Haryana, Delhi, Assam, West Bengal, and Bihar were achieved through the support of the people. He noted that the party secured power in Assam for the third consecutive term and achieved a victory in Delhi after 30 years. He expressed confidence that the BJP would form the government in Telangana in the upcoming elections.

Sharp criticism of Rahul Gandhi

Amit Shah took a dig at the opposition parties for conducting a 'mock parliament.' Mocking Rahul Gandhi, it was remarked that since he could not become the Prime Minister in the actual Parliament, he might as well play the role of Prime Minister in a 'mock Parliament.' It was further criticized that while Congress leaders often carry the Constitution around, they fail to accord it the respect it deserves. The BJP expressed its readiness to debate issues such as EVMs, the 'SIR' (a reference to the 'Systematic/Secret Interference/Manipulation' narrative often alleged by the opposition), and the issue of infiltrators in Parliament, challenging Rahul Gandhi to come forward for a discussion if he has the courage. It was noted that it has become a habit for the Congress to level allegations against EVMs every time they lose an election. The question was posed: how did the Revanth Reddy-led government come to power in Telangana, or how did Congress governments form in Kerala and Himachal Pradesh?Corruption under Congress rule vs. Development under Modi's governance

Amit Shah alleged that during the ten years of Congress rule at the Centre, corruption amounting to Rs 12 lakh crore took place. He pointed out that despite the Modi government having been in power for 12 years, there has not been a single allegation of corruption against it.

It was highlighted that the Congress has been out of power for 64 years in Tamil Nadu, 54 years in West Bengal, 41 years in Gujarat and Uttar Pradesh, 36 years in Tripura, and 26 years in Odisha. The question was asked: is the 'SIR' factor responsible for the Congress's defeat in these states?

The Congress party was described as having become weak, lacking the capacity to compete with the immense public popularity enjoyed by Narendra Modi. Amit Shah stated that it is possible to defeat the Congress in Telangana if BJP workers work together with a collective effort. He alleged that the Congress government in Telangana is mired in corruption, further criticizing Revanth Reddy and Rahul Gandhi for turning the state into an "ATM." He lashed out at the government for failing to properly implement the "six guarantees" promised during the elections. Claiming that there are attempts to "sell off" Telangana, he asserted that the Congress, BRS, and MIM are incapable of protecting the state. He emphasized that only the BJP, under the leadership of Prime Minister Modi, is capableofsafeguardingTelangana .Achievements of the Modi GovernmentAmit Shah highlighted key decisions implemented by the Modi government, including the abrogation of Article 370, the construction of the Ram Mandir in Ayodhya, the abolition of Triple Talaq, the fight against terrorism, and the eradication of Naxalism. He stated that the next goal is to make the nation drug-free. He remarked that crores of people are benefiting from the welfare schemes implemented by the Modi government, and the very existence of these beneficiaries makes it difficult for Rahul Gandhi to provide any counter-argument. Finally, Amit Shah issued a call to the BJP workers in Telangana, urging them to bring an end to the corrupt Congress rule in the state; he encouraged the party ranks to work in unity to ensure the formation of a BJP government in the upcoming elections.

Amit Shah’s Hyderabad visit limited to criticizing the Congress: Minister Ponnam Prabhakar

Hyderabad, Trinet News, November 02:

State Minister Ponnam Prabhakar has criticized Union Home Minister Amit Shah’s visit to Hyderabad, stating that it was limited solely to criticizing the Congress party. He questioned why Amit Shah did not address issues such as the formation of Telangana, the promises made during the state’s bifurcation, the funds due to the state from the Centre, or the concerns of the public. He advised the BJP, which is in power at the Centre, to recognize its own responsibilities before leveling criticisms against Telangana. Ponnam Prabhakar noted that there had been an expectation that Amit Shah would address the bifurcation promises and the BJP’s past stance on the state’s formation; however, his visit was confined to making allegations against the Congress. He lashed out at BJP leaders, accusing them of attempting to come to power in the state by spreading false propaganda about the Congress party. Ponnam clarified that the Congress party also opposes granting voting rights to infiltrators. He suggested that Amit Shah, as the Union Home Minister, should introspect on how a situation arose where infiltrators could potentially gain voting rights.

He further demanded that the BJP provide evidence regarding the removal of foreign nationals’ names from the electoral rolls—a process they claim to have carried out—and asked how many of these individuals have actually been deported to their respective countries. He demanded that the issue of the 'SIR' (voter list revision/scrutiny) be discussed in Parliament and challenged the other side to an open debate on the matter. He clarified that the Congress party is not opposed to the removal of ineligible votes; rather, it is questioning the deletion of votes belonging to eligible individuals—specifically those from SC, ST, BC, and minority communities. He pointed out that the previous Congress government had also undertaken the process of revising the electoral rolls ten times. He further questioned why Amit Shah has remained silent regarding allegations that forms for the deletion of votes are being distributed from BJP and RSS offices.

Welfare for the people through 'Six Guarantees'

Ponnam Prabhakar stated that the Congress government in Telangana is prioritizing public welfare. He highlighted the implementation of several welfare schemes, including the distribution of fine-quality rice, the issuance of ration cards, the provision of 200 units of free electricity, free bus travel for women, and the recruitment of personnel for government jobs. He noted that the schemes implemented by the Congress are reaching every doorstep and suggested that Amit Shah should examine the welfare benefits being delivered to the people at the grassroots level. He also questioned the BJP’s current criticism of the Congress government, recalling that the BJP had previously accused the BRS government of turning Telangana into an 'ATM' (a source of illicit funds).

Criticism of the Modi-Amit Shah administration

The Minister alleged that democracy in the country is being undermined under the administration of Modi and Amit Shah. He criticized the Prime Minister and the Union Home Minister, alleging that they are working solely for the benefit of a few industrialists and handing over the nation's wealth to Ambani and Adani. He noted that the common people are facing severe hardships due to rising prices in the country.

He lashed out at them for remaining silent on the violence in Manipur and the situation in Arunachal Pradesh, choosing instead to focus on petty, local-level politics. He posed a sharp question: "Is Amit Shah the Home Minister of the entire nation, or just a 'gully' (local-level) minister?"

Are you ready for an open debate on the BJP’s promises?

Ponnam Prabhakar demanded that BJP leaders—who frequently speak about the six guarantees of the Congress government—should instead answer for the promises they made at the national level. He asked: Did they implement the promised monthly pensions for farmers? What happened to the assurance of providing free electricity? How many families actually received the Rs. 15 lakh that was promised to each household? He further questioned what became of the pledges to reduce prices by 30 percent and provide petrol at Rs. 50 per liter. He criticized the BJP for a track record that includes failing to issue even a single ration card, and highlighted the incompetence of the central government, which has failed to establish even one public sector undertaking. He challenged them to an open debate on how much tax revenue flows from Telangana to the Centre, and how much of that is returned to the state as funds.

The Centre must provide aid for the drought in Telangana.

Ponnam Prabhakar pointed out that Telangana is facing drought-like conditions due to the impact of El Niño, and urged the central government to provide immediate assistance to the state. It was stated that Amit Shah prioritized political criticism over addressing the problems faced by the people of the state.

He was criticized for coming to Hyderabad instead of having the courage to go to Delhi to counter the rally held there. It was remarked that Amit Shah’s visit followed a script written by the local BJP leadership, and that he himself is well aware of how unsuccessful the visit was.

Protecting Democracy is the Congress’s Goal

Ponnam Prabhakar stated that under the leadership of Rahul Gandhi, the Congress party is fighting to protect democracy against the Prime Minister’s autocratic attitude. He suggested that if Amit Shah truly wishes to safeguard democracy, he should hold rallies in every state across the country. He argued that criticism of the ruling government by the opposition poses no threat to democracy; rather, it is the BJP’s governance—having been in power at the Centre for 12 years—that is responsible for the current situation.

Ponnam Prabhakar emphasized that just as Congress leaders once fought for independence, they are now fighting to protect democracy. He affirmed that the Congress party will continue its struggle to ensure that every eligible person has the right to vote, that democracy is preserved, and that lawlessness and tyranny are brought to an end.

Ministry of Culture Focuses on Cleanliness and Clearing Pending Matters'Special Campaign 6.0' Concludes

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02:

The Union Ministry of Culture has successfully concluded 'Special Campaign 6.0,' an initiative aimed at institutionalizing cleanliness within workplaces and reducing the backlog of pending matters. Held from October 2 to 31, the campaign saw the active and systematic participation of the Ministry, along with its attached, subordinate, and autonomous organizations.

As part of the campaign, extensive sanitation drives were conducted in offices, and redundant materials were cleared to optimize space utilization. Furthermore, both physical and electronic files were reviewed, with a focus on weeding out records no longer required under existing regulations.

Priority was given to the prompt resolution of public grievances, pending parliamentary assurances, requests received from dignitaries, and matters requiring inter-ministerial consultations. The Ministry of Culture stated that the campaign yielded significant results across key areas. It emphasized that the initiative is aimed at strengthening good governance by fostering clean, efficient, and citizen-centric workplaces.

Research in maize cultivation should aim to ensure profitability for farmers Production must be increased to 75 million tonnes within a decade: Dr. M.L. Jat

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02:

Agricultural research and extension services should focus on increasing farmers' income and improving their livelihoods, stated Dr. M.L. Jat, Secretary of the Department of Agricultural Research and Education (DARE) and Director General of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR). He was speaking at the inaugural session of the first International Maize Conference, which began on Monday at the JD Convention Centre in Hyderabad. The conference, held from November 2 to 4, is themed "Maize Revolution for Food, Feed, Fodder, Fuel, and Sustainability in a Changing World."

Dr. Jat expressed satisfaction that maize production in India has reached approximately 55 million tonnes. He called for efforts to increase production to 75 million tonnes over the next decade, while also boosting productivity by 1.5 times. He suggested that these goals could be achieved through technological innovations, improved crop management, and the efficient use of resources.

He further emphasized moving forward with a "5F" approach—integrating farmers into the existing "4F" framework, which prioritizes food, feed, fodder, and fuel. It was suggested that the cultivation of maize should be promoted in a manner that aligns with specific seasons and agro-climatic zones, without hindering the cultivation of oilseeds and pulses. The need for a robust seed system was emphasized to ensure that farmers have access to quality seeds—particularly hybrids developed in the public sector—at affordable prices.

Dr. D.K. Yadav, Deputy Director General of the ICAR, stated that 329 maize hybrids have been developed over the last five years. He stressed the importance of focusing on varieties that offer higher yields, improved nutritional value, and greater resilience against pests, diseases, and adverse climatic conditions. He further recommended promoting mechanization, the efficient use of agricultural resources, and strengthening the production of public-sector hybrid seeds.

Renowned maize scientist and Padma Shri awardee, Dr. S. Vasal, advised the adoption of simple, cost-effective crop-breeding methods tailored to the needs of farmers. The chief guest, Padma Bhushan Dr. R.S. Paroda, highlighted the need to prioritize modern breeding technologies, the conservation of genetic resources, and the strengthening of value chains. He also noted the importance of effectively controlling aflatoxin contamination to ensure food and livestock feed safety.

Dr. H.S., President of the Maize Technologists Association of India... They called for increased coordination among research organizations, agricultural universities, policymakers, and the industry. During the event, scientific publications were released, and awards were presented to scientists and researchers who have made significant contributions to maize research.

P. Srinivasulu Reddy Assumes Charge as Executive Officer (EO) of Pedakakani Temple

Reported by Gunji Ankamma Rao, Andhra Pradesh State In-charge, Varthalokam

November 02, 2026

P. Srinivasulu Reddy, Deputy Commissioner of the Endowments Department, assumed charge as the new Executive Officer (EO) of the Sri Bhramaramba Sametha Malleswara Swamy Temple in Pedakakani on Monday, with great devotion and reverence. He was warmly welcomed by the temple staff and priests upon taking charge of this renowned pilgrimage site.

According to details, the incumbent Executive Officer, Gogineni Leela Kumar, has proceeded on long-term leave for two months due to personal reasons. To ensure that the temple's administration continues without any disruption, the Commissioner of the Endowments Department issued special directives, pursuant to which Deputy Commissioner P. Srinivasulu Reddy has officially taken over these responsibilities.

Before assuming his duties, he offered prayers to Sri Bhramaramba Sametha Malleswara Swamy. He participated in special rituals at the temple and received theertha-prasadam (consecrated offerings). During the proceedings, the temple priests blessed the new EO by chanting Vedic hymns and bestowing Vedasirvachanam (Vedic blessings) upon him. On this occasion, he stated that he would strive to contribute to the development of the temple and ensure better facilities for the devotees.

Free AI and Cloud Computing Training for 100,000 Students in Telangana

Joint Training Program by TASK and Amazon Web Services (AWS) – No Financial Burden on the Government or Students, Says IT Minister Sridhar Babu

The state government has taken another significant step towards providing world-class technical knowledge to students in Telangana. State Minister for IT and Industries, Duddilla Sridhar Babu, announced that 100,000 students across the state will receive free training in Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Cloud Computing. The initiative, titled "Telangana AI and Cloud Skilling Initiative," will be implemented in partnership with the Telangana Academy for Skill and Knowledge (TASK) and the renowned global organization, Amazon Web Services (AWS). Representatives from both entities signed an agreement to this effect on Monday at the Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Telangana Secretariat. The government has clarified that this program will impose no financial burden on the state government, educational institutions, or the students.

Training for Students in 643 Colleges

Through this program, training will be provided to students enrolled in 643 colleges across the state that are affiliated with TASK. Skills will be developed in modern technological areas such as Artificial Intelligence, Cloud Computing, Data Engineering, Machine Learning, and Generative AI.

Specialized training pathways will be made available not only to students in scientific and technical fields but also to those in non-STEM disciplines, such as Arts and Commerce. This initiative aims to encourage students from all academic backgrounds to seize AI-driven job opportunities in the future.

Free access to over 900 online courses

As part of this program, students will be given free access to more than 900 digital courses via 'AWS Skill Builder' for a period of one year. Additionally, discount vouchers will be provided to students appearing for international-standard certification exams.

Beyond traditional classroom instruction, the program will offer practical, hands-on training through the AWS Cloud Console. Students will also gain real-world technical insight through hackathons and exclusive sessions with industry experts.

Dedicated job fairs for those who complete the training

Another key feature of this program is the organization of dedicated job fairs specifically for students who have successfully completed the training. The initiative will focus on developing skills aligned with industry requirements, while also creating job opportunities for participants.

Additionally, college faculty will receive training in AI and cloud technologies, thereby enhancing their capacity to provide high-quality technical education to students.

Aiming to prepare the youth of Telangana for future technology sectors.

Given the rapid global growth in job opportunities within the fields of AI, cloud computing, and data engineering, the primary objective of this program is to equip the youth of Telangana with modern technical skills. Through a partnership with an international organization, students will be provided with high-quality training, practical experience, and certification opportunities—all at no cost. Senior officials from the Government of Telangana, along with representatives from TASK (Telangana Academy for Skill and Knowledge) and Amazon Web Services (AWS), participated in the signing of this agreement. This program will enable one lakh (100,000) students across the state to develop the skills necessary for careers in future technology sectors.

Megastar Chiranjeevi meets Union Home Minister Amit Shah; urges action to curb the misuse of AI and deepfakes

Hyderabad,Trainet News, November 02:

Followinghisrecent expression of concern on the platform 'X' regarding the creation of obscene and morphed videos targeting artists,MegastarChiranjeevi has taken another significantstep.Today,inHyderabad, he met with the Union Home Minister, Shri Amit Shah, to discuss the issues surrounding the misuseofArtificia Intelligence (AI) and deepfakes. Ram Charan also accompanied Chiranjeevi to this meeting.

Chiranjeevi had requested this meeting to personally explain how AI and deepfake technologies are being misused. He highlighted that such misuse poses a serious threat to the rights, dignity, and creative content of artists. He urged that this issue should not be viewed merely as a social media concern; rather, on behalf of the film industry, he called for the implementation of stronger protective measures and stricter penalties to curb such abuse.

Union Home Minister Shri Amit Shah responded positively to Chiranjeevi's concerns, assuring him that the government would treat this matter with urgency and work toward implementing more robust safeguards and stringent punitive measures. He suggested submitting a written representation regarding this matter and entrusted the responsibility of coordinating the issue to Shri G. Kishan Reddy.

Expressing his gratitude for the Union Home Minister's response, Chiranjeevi described the assurance given as a significant step that would provide encouragement to the film industry. He also expressed hope that a solution to this problem would be found soon, ensuring appropriate protection for artists.

Strengthening the Early Warning System for Disasters
Union Minister Jitendra Singh inaugurates an earthquake observation center in Kishtwar

Public urged to strictly follow weather and disaster warnings

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02:

Union Minister of State for Science and Technology and Earth Sciences, Dr. Jitendra Singh, announced the expansion of weather monitoring and early warning systems in Jammu and Kashmir to protect the public from natural disasters. On Monday, he inaugurated a new earthquake observation center in Kishtwar—a region highly vulnerable to seismic activity. He emphasized that the loss of life can only be minimized if the public trusts scientific warnings and adheres to the instructions provided by the authorities.

The Minister explained that the center, equipped with state-of-the-art digital seismic instruments, will continuously monitor earthquake activity in the region. Data collected will be transmitted in real-time to the 24-hour monitoring center at the NationalCenterforSeismology in New Delhi. With this addition, the number of earthquakeobservation centers in Jammu and Kashmir has reached four; similar facilities are already operational in Jammu, Srinagar, and Udhampur.

Dr. Jitendra Singh noted that this data will be instrumental in gaining a more comprehensive understanding of seismic risks. He added that it will also assist the district administration and relief teams in responding effectively during disasters, while supporting the planning and constructionof resilient infrastructure. It was stated that additional monitoring facilities have been established following the flash flood disaster that occurred in the Chasoti region last year.

It was noted that there was not a single Doppler weather radar in this region in 2014; subsequently, four radars were installed in Banihal, Jot, Jammu, and Srinagar. It was further revealed that four more radars are set to be commissioned in 2027—inDoda, Kishtwar, Anantnag, and Baramulla—bringing the total number of radars to eight.

The Minister explained that the number of Automatic Weather Stations (AWS) has increased from three to 12. While there were previously three stations in Udhampur, Kathua, and Ramban, new stations have been added: four in Kishtwar, two each in Doda and Ramban, and one in Kathua. It was emphasized that even if administrative boundaries change, geographicalchallenges persist; therefore, monitoring systems are being strengthened to meet the specific needs of these areas.

The number of rainfall recording stations across the five districts within the parliamentary constituency has increased from nine to 15. Weather forecasts are being disseminated to all panchayats, and weather-relatedinformationalong with agro-meteorological advisory services have reached 5,467beneficiaries.Additionally, the Cloud Physics Laboratory located at a high altitude in Patnitop and the Regional Meteorological Centre in Jammu are contributing to the strengthening of monitoring services. The Minister recalled an incident where a road was damaged following the imposition of travel restrictions based on weather warnings. He remarked, "Receiving information is important, but acting upon it is equally crucial," and urged the public to cooperate with authorities during periods when such warnings are issued. He advised people to rely on information from credible sources and scientific evidence, rather than unverified claims that may incite fear or panic.

The Minister noted that the Kishtwar region is making progress, driven by improved transport connectivity and its development into a major power-generation hub. He encouraged the youth in remote areas to take full advantage of the opportunities provided by technology and digital platforms.

The event was attended by Dr. Srinivasa Kumar Tummala, Secretary of the Union Ministry of Earth Sciences; senior scientist Suresh; Sunil Sharma, Leader of the Opposition in the Jammu and Kashmir Legislative Assembly; Shagun Parihar, MLA for Kishtwar; District Deputy Commissioner Pankaj Sharma; and SSP Sunny Gupta, among others.

National Commission for Women Praises Telangana State Commission for Women's Efforts Towards Women's Empowerment

New Delhi, Trinet News, November 02:

The Chairperson of the National Commission for Women (NCW) has commended the initiatives undertaken by the Telangana State Commission for Women, which are aimed at the protection of women's rights, safety, welfare, equality, and empowerment. Nerella Sharada, Chairperson of the Telangana State Commission for Women, paid a courtesy visit to the NCW Chairperson at the National Commission for Women's office in New Delhi. During the meeting, she presented a specially prepared book detailing the various programs implemented by the Telangana State Commission for Women across the state. The book outlines the specific action plans for women's welfare, measures taken to protect women's rights, the progress achieved by the Commission, and its ongoing efforts to address various social issues.

The book covers a wide range of initiatives, including the inquiries conducted to ensure justice for women, the support provided to victims, awareness programs on women's rights, and efforts focused on women's safety, social justice, economic self-reliance, and the advancement of women in rural areas. The NCW Chairperson specifically praised the comprehensive report on the initiatives undertaken by the Telangana State Commission for Women and the manner in which these efforts were documented in the book. Expressing satisfaction with the efforts being made at the state level for the welfare and protection of women's rights, it was hoped that these initiatives would be expanded further.

Robust measures and various issues were discussed to curb problems such as harassment, violence, and domestic abuse against women.

Justice for Women:
- Enhancing coordination with relevant government departments to ensure prompt justice for victimized women.

Awareness of Laws:
- Creating widespread awareness among women regarding their constitutional rights, legal protections, and access to legal aid.

Prevention of Cybercrimes:
- Strengthening protective measures and raising awareness about online harassment and cybercrimes faced by women.

Empowerment of Rural Women:
- Educating women in rural and remote areas about government welfare schemes, their rights, and available opportunities.

Economic Self-Reliance:
- Promoting employment, skill development, self-employment, and entrepreneurial opportunities for women.

National-Level Coordination:
- Further strengthening cooperation and coordination between the National Commission for Women, State Commissions for Women, and various government departments.

Women's Empowerment is the Primary Goal
- Nerella Sharada

Speaking on this occasion, Nerella Sharada, Chairperson of the Telangana State Commission for Women, stated that the Commission's primary objective goes beyond merely providing welfare schemes; it aims to ensure that women receive due respect in society, equal opportunities, safety, justice, and financial independence.

She emphasized that the Commission is working tirelessly to ensure justice for every woman in Telangana and to resolve the issues they face. She explained that the Commission intends to expand its grassroots-level initiatives, with a special focus on addressing the challenges faced by women from marginalized, impoverished, and vulnerable sections, as well as those living in rural areas.

She further noted that the Commission will coordinate with the National Commission for Women to implement more effective programs dedicated to the protection, rights, and empowerment of women.

She remarked that the recognition received at the national level for the initiatives undertaken by the Telangana State Commission for Women serves as an inspiration to work with even greater responsibility and dedication toward the goal of women's empowerment. With the aim of building a society rooted in women's safety, dignity, equality, and empowerment, the Telangana State Commission for Women is set to further strengthen its operational framework.

Make permanent, high-quality arrangements for the Khelo India Games: CM Revanth Reddy

- Plan the arrangements for the Khelo India Games in parallel with the 'Invest Telangana Global Summit,' ensuring that resources prepared for the summit are also utilized for the 2026 Khelo India Games.

Hyderabad,TrinetNews, November 02:
Chief Minister Revanth Reddy held a review meeting at the MCRHRD Institute on Monday regarding the preparations for the 8th edition of the Khelo India Youth Games, scheduled to be held in Telangana from December 11 to 22. He directed officials to take robust measures to ensure that the arrangements for this prestigious event meet the highest quality standards, with no room for lapses. Ministers Jupally Krishna Rao and Vakiti Srihari, along with Sports Authority Chairman Shivsena Reddy, participated in the meeting.
The state government has placed great importance on this event, as it aligns with its broader efforts—through the new Telangana Sports Policy and the establishment of the 'Young India Physical Education and Sports University'—to transform Telangana into a national sports hub. The Chief Minister stated that the government intends to leverage these games as a significant opportunity to provide young athletes in Telangana with international-standard infrastructure and world-class training, with the long-term goal of winning medals at the Olympics. The Chief Minister directed that arrangements for the 'Khelo India' games be made in parallel with those for the 'Invest Telangana Global Summit,' ensuring that resources prepared for the summit are also utilized for the sports event. He emphasized that since attracting investments in sports and sports development is a key component of the 'Invest Telangana Global Summit,' all officials must work in close coordination.He called for establishing permanent infrastructure aimed at identifying latent sporting talent among the youth and grooming them into international-standard athletes. He stressed that sports venues must be developed to the highest quality standards so that they continue to serve as valuable sporting assets long after the 'Khelo India' games conclude. To ensure strict adherence to quality standards, he directed that Group-1 level officers be assigned supervisory responsibilities—from the initial preparations through to the conclusion of the games. Furthermore, he instructed that trainee officers and Group-1 officials stationed in the respective districts be appointed to oversee the arrangements for the events taking place in those locations.
The Chief Minister also emphasized the need to ensure that athletes face no difficulties regarding food and accommodation. He requested weekly updates on the progress of the preparations. Additionally, he issued strict instructions to take robust measures to prevent any of the issues that occurred during sports events under the previous BRS administration. It was noted that sports infrastructure developed under the previous administration fell into disrepair just years after the conclusion of the events for which it was built. In light of El Niño conditions, it was advised that the opening and closing ceremonies of the games be kept simple, avoiding unnecessary extravagance. Thousands of young athletes from across the country are set to participate in the 'Khelo India' games, scheduled to take place from December 11 to 22. In addition to over 7,000 young athletes, approximately 2,000 coaching staff and officials are expected to arrive in the state. The events will feature 27 different sports disciplines and one demonstration sport, spread across 20 venues in six cities, including Hyderabad. The Chief Minister directed that immediate steps be taken to include 'Karrasamu' (a traditional Telangana martial art) in the Khelo India games under the host state's quota. Officials stated that measures are being taken to ensure that athletes representing Telangana perform well in these competitions; athletes are already undergoing training at various 'Khelo India' camps across different districts. Officials also provided an update on the progress of infrastructure development works currently underway at the 20 venues designated for the various sporting events.
The meeting was attended by Chief Secretary Sanjay Jaju, Advisor to the Chief Minister K. Ramakrishna Rao, Special Chief Secretary (Sports) Vani Prasad, Sports Authority Managing Director Sonibala Devi, and other senior officials.

A Friend's Heroism During the Raptadu Attack: Praised by Minister Lokesh

TrinetNews, November 02:
AP: The incident in Raptadu, Anantapur district—which has caused a major stir—saw a young girl display remarkable courage. A violent attack by an assailant, who used a saw to assault a tenth-grade student at the Raptadu Zilla Parishad (ZP) School, has sent shockwaves through the region. Without a moment's hesitation, the victim's friend, Lakshmi, stepped in to save her, demonstrating extraordinary bravery. State IT and Education Minister Nara Lokesh responded strongly to this act of heroism, wholeheartedly commending young Lakshmi for her courage.

According to the details, when the assailant began his attack on the student at the school, Lakshmi—who was present at the scene—did not succumb to fear or flee. Instead, she acted with great resolve, doing everything in her power to protect her friend. In her attempt to confront the attacker, Lakshmi risked her own life and sustained severe injuries. Currently, both the victim and the courageous Lakshmi are undergoing treatment at a hospital. Minister Nara Lokesh expressed deep shock over the incident and lauded the courageous act displayed by Lakshmi. He commended the young girl for her noble heart in risking her own life to save her friend. The Minister assured that the government would provide full support to both the victim—who sustained injuries in the incident—and the family of Lakshmi, who was also injured while showing such bravery; he emphasized that the state government would always stand by them. Officials have made it clear that the safety of students in schools will be given the highest priority and that strict measures will be taken to ensure such incidents do not recur.

Robust Arrangements Must Be Made for Municipal Election Vote Counting

TrinetNews, November 02:
Ensure No Delays or Negligence During the Counting Process
— District Collector Krithika Shukla
November 02: District Collector and District Election Officer Krithika Shukla has directed officials to make robust arrangements to ensure that the vote-counting process for the municipal elections in the district is conducted transparently, peacefully, and without any errors. She held a teleconference with the concerned officials on Monday to discuss the counting arrangements and provided several instructions.Speaking on the occasion, the Collector stated:

* Video recording must be arranged at the counting centers. Monitoring should be in place to prevent any violations of the Model Code of Conduct.
* Valid and invalid votes must be carefully examined and determined in accordance with the established rules.
* Candidates and their agents should be permitted to enter the counting center only in compliance with the prescribed regulations.
* Staff must be prepared to ensure the counting process continues uninterrupted, without any breaks.
* Arrangements for food and drinking water should be made outside the counting hall.
* At the counting centers, ballot boxes must be systematically segregated by round and ward in preparation for the counting process. * Counting personnel must be provided with comprehensive training in advance. They should have a clear understanding of the handling of ballot boxes, the counting of votes, and the process for recording results.
* Mobile phones shall not be permitted inside the counting centers. Security protocols must be strictly enforced.
The Collector has directed that every aspect of the counting process be conducted in accordance with election rules. Officials are instructed to work in coordination and take all necessary measures to ensure the declaration of results proceeds without any disruptions.

Focusing on Investments for Women-Led Businesses

WomenEntrepreneursExecutive Council Formed Under the Chairmanship of Minister Seethakka

Hyderabad,T-NetNews, November 02:

The Government of Telangana has established the 'Women Entrepreneurs Executive Council' (WEEC) to boost investments, market opportunities, and policy support for businesses led by women. This council will initiate discussions ahead of the 'Invest Telangana Global Summit–2026,' scheduled to be held from December 7 to 9 at Bharat Future City in Hyderabad.

The council is chaired by MinisterD.AnasuyaSeethakka, with Sita Pallacholla, CEO of WE-Hub, serving as the Member-Convener. It aims to bring together policymakers, womenentrepreneurs,investors, and corporate representatives onto a single platform.

Minister Seethakka stated that promoting women-led businesses is not just a matter of welfare, but also a key factor in economic competitiveness. She emphasized that women running businesses—whether in cities, villages, or through Self-Help Groups(SHGs)-require access to favorable credit, markets, and supportive government policies. She added that the government, with WE-Hub acting as the nodal agency, will work to remove barriers hindering their growth.The council will operate across four key focus areas. Divya Devarajan will lead the vertical for Policies and Institutional Leadership; Nayya Sagi will head Urban Innovatio andEntrepreneurship; Dr. Harish Hande will oversee Social Impact and Inclusive Business; and Ankita Vashistha will lead the area of ??Investments and Corporate Partnerships.

The Council will focus on identifying initiatives that can be piloted within the state over the next 12 to 24 months, as well as models that have the potential for scale. Drawing on recommendations from these discussions, a white paper on the status of women entrepreneurs—developed in partnership with EY—will be released during the conference. Seetha Pallacholla noted that the primary need is to improve women's access to capital, customers, and business networks.

Promote Dance and Performing Arts from a Young Age

SwaraSapta'–AConfluenceofMusicInstrumental Performance, and Dance at Ravindra Bharati

Hyderabad,Trinet News,

November 02:

Dr.Varre Venkateswarlu, a member of the Telangana State Police Complaints Authority, has urged that children be ncouraged to engage with classical music and dance from their school years. On Monday, a 'Swara Sapta' (a confluence of music, instrumental erformance, and dance) was organized at Ravindra Bharati, jointly hosted y the Sri Vagdevi Vaidya Sangeeta Kala Nritya amskruti Samstha and the Sri Nataraja Nrityaangeeta Academy. Speaking on the occasion, Dr. Venkateswarlu remarked that classical music and dance are part of our rich cultural heritage.He emphasized the vital need to preservethese artistic treasures, which have been passeddownthrouggenerations. He noted that society bears a responsibility to ensure these traditional arts are preservedandhanded down to future generations. Other speakers suggested that encouraging children to explore the arts can help cultivate a genuine interest in them, and stressed the importance of introducing classical arts as early as the school level. The cultural dances performed by the children during the event captivated the audience. The performances by these young artists served as a special highlight of the program. This event, which featured a blend of music, instrumental performances, and dance, included an awards ceremony for artists and their mentors (gurus). Young artists were honored with the 'Natya Ravali' award, whilehementor received the 'Nritya Chudamani' award. The gathering served as a platform for both artistic performances by children and the felicitation of young artists and their mentors.Theeventwa attended by social activist Veera Bhoga Vasantha Rayulu, TG Sarpanch Forum founding president Bhumanna, State Vice-President of the Mahila Congress Anjali Yadav, and organizers B. Nagendra Yadav and Divyalakshmi, among others. The program primarily emphasized the importance of preserving traditional arts and providing encouragement to children.

'Nritya Tarangini–2026' Classical Dance Competitions Held Grandly

NTR Auditorium Serves as a Stage for Artistic Talent

Hyderabad, Trinet News, November 02:

Organized by Jackie Dance and Events,the'Nritya Tarangini–2026' classical dance competitions took place in a grand manner on Sunday at the NTR Auditorium in Nampally. The event, which spanned from 2:00 PM to 9:00 PM, served as a platform for the art of classical dance and allowed artists to showcase their talent. The competitions were conducted in a way that highlighted the significance of traditional Indian arts. Such competitions provide an excellent opportunity for artists to demonstrate the techniques they have mastered through their dance training. 'Nritya Tarangini' offered a stage for participants to exhibit their skills in areas such as abhinaya (expressive acting), laya(rhythm),tala(beat/tempo) , and the communication of emotions. Beyond fostering an interest in classical dance, the event played a vital role in promoting traditional art forms.

The event invitation listed Dr. T. Srinivas Raghu, Director General of APPC, and Kotha Srinivas, Assistant Director of Municipal Administration, as the chief guests. Social activist Kotha Krishnaveni was invited as the guest of honor, while senior actresses Latasree and Shruti attended as special guests.

Classical dance holds a unique place in passing on cultural heritage to future generations. Disciplined practice and the guidance of mentors serve as the foundation for an artist's growth. Performing what they have learned before an audience helps boost the artists' self-confidence. Competitive platforms, in turn, provide opportunities for participants to recognize each other's talents and observe various performance styles.

Against this backdrop, the 'Nritya Tarangini' (Dance Waves) competition emerged as a cultural event that prioritizes the pursuit of artistic excellence. Held at the NTR Auditorium in the city, the event provided a significant boost to the art of classical dance. Organized by 'Jacky Dance and Events,' the competition stood out for the platform it offered to the artists.
