Telangana Simplifies Fire NOC Rules for Existing Schools and Colleges

New Guidelines Effective November 10; Fire NOCs to Remain Valid for Three Years

Hyderabad, TRINET NEWS, November 04:
The Telangana Fire Services Department has simplified Fire No Objection Certificate (NOC) regulations for existing schools, junior and intermediate colleges across the state.
Director General of Telangana Fire,DisasterResponse,Emergency Services and Civil Defence, Vikram Singh Mann, IPS, announced revised guidelines to address structural limitations faced by educational institutions operating in older buildings.
The new regulations will apply to Fire NOC applications submitted from November 10, 2026.
Under the revised rules, institutions will not be required to create additional open spaces beyond existing setbacks. However, alternative fire protection measures, including water curtains and fire brigade inlets, must be installed wherever necessary.
Fire safety requirements will depend on building height and classification. Institutions must provide fire extinguishers, alarm systems, hose reels, water storage tanks and other prescribed safety equipment.
The department emphasised that staircases, corridors and emergency exits must remain unobstructed. Emergency lighting, evacuation plans, safety signage and staff training will also be mandatory.
The existing self-certification system will continue under applicable government regulations.
Fire Occupancy NOCs issued under the revised guidelines will remain valid for three years. Institutions must apply for renewal two months before expiry.
Officials stated that the simplified regulations would reduce difficulties for older educational institutions while ensuring essential fire safety standards for students, teachers and staff.

Over 5 Lakh Workers Provided Employment in a Single Day; Minister Seethakka Calls for More Job Opportunities

Hyderabad, TRINET NEWS, November 04:

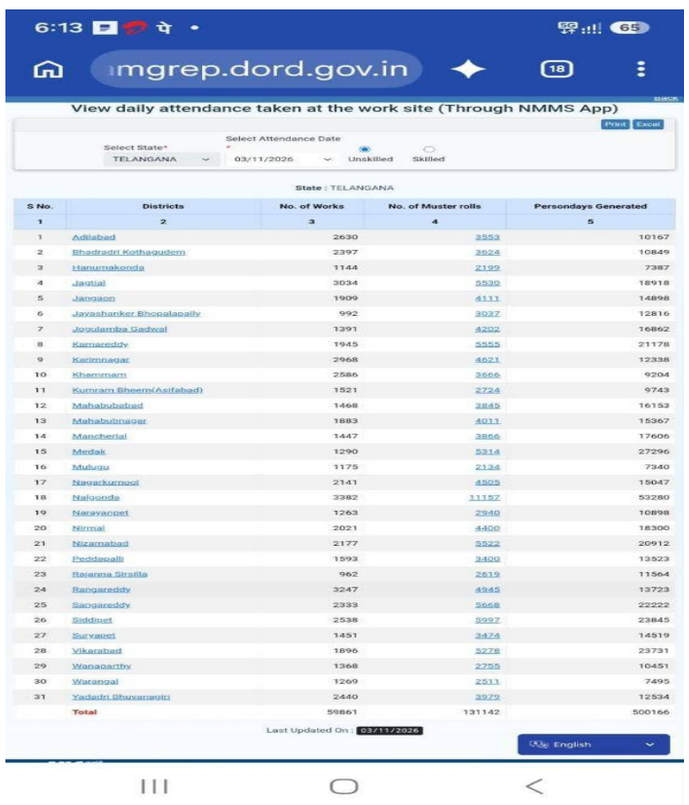

Telangana has achieved a milestone in rural employment generation by providing work to more than five lakh labourers across the state on November 3 under the VB–G RAM G Employment Guarantee Scheme.

According to officials, this marks the highest single-day employment figure recorded during November in the state's history.

Panchayat Raj and Rural Development Minister D. Anasuya Seethakka appreciated the achievement and directed officials to create additional employment opportunities for rural workers.

She emphasised that employment guarantee works should focus on three major objectives: providing livelihood opportunities, conserving water resources and creating permanent assets in villages.

The Minister instructed officials to prioritise rainwater harvesting, water conservation projects and rural infrastructure development.

She also stressed the importance of preparing village-specific action plans based on local requirements to ensure employment opportunities throughout the year.

The government aims to strengthen rural livelihoods, provide financial security to economically weaker families and accelerate village development through effective implementation of the employment guarantee scheme.

Hostel Owners Welcome Withdrawal of Water Tanker Strike in Hyderabad

Hostel Association Thanks HYDRAA Commissioner A.V. Ranganath for Resolving Water Supply Issue

Hyderabad, TRINET NEWS, November 04

:Hostel owners in Hyderabad welcomed the withdrawal of the water tanker operators' strike and expressed gratitude to HYDRAA Commissioner A.V. Ranganath for his intervention in resolving the issue.Representatives of the Hostel OwnersAssociationmettheCommissioner on Wednesday and thanked him for holding discussions with tanker operators and facilitating the restoration of water supplies.The association stated that thousands of students, employees and job seekers from different regions depend on hostels in Hyderabad, many of which rely heavily on water tankers for their daily requirements.They expressed concern that a prolonged strike would have caused serious difficulties for hostel residents.The representatives appreciated Ranganath's suggestion that tanker operators source water from less densely populated peri-urban areas instead of placing additional pressure on groundwater resources in heavily populated urban localities.

They welcomed the operators' decision to withdraw the strike and resume water supply operations.

The association thanked the HYDRAA Commissioner for helping prevent water shortages in hostels and safeguarding the daily needs of students and working professionals across Hyderabad.
