E20 Petrol Meets Prescribed Quality Standards: Centre
893 Fuel Samples Tested Across 27 States and Union Territories

893 Fuel Samples Tested Across 27 States and Union Territories

New Delhi, TRINET NEWS, November 07:

The Union Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas clarified that E20 petrol supplied by public-sector oil marketing companies complies with prescribed quality standards.According to the Ministry, all 893 fuel samples collected across 27 states and Union Territories contained ethanol within the permitted range of 19–21 percent.The clarification followed Karnatakagovernment'sreports indicating ethanol concentrations of 26–31 percent at certain petrol stations.

However, tests conducted by Indian Oil, Bharat Petroleum and Hindustan Petroleum found all 56 Karnataka samples compliant with IS 17021 standards, recording an average ethanol content of 19.30 percent.Oilcompaniesrequested joint sampling and independent laboratory testing to verify the reported discrepancies.The Ministry explained that ethanol blending follows automated, controlled procedures.It also clarified that mileage reduction varies depending on vehicle compatibility,ranging from approximately 1–2 percent in E20-optimised vehicles to 3–6 percent in certain other vehicles.

Since2014–15,ethanol blending has reportedly saved over ?1.97 lakh crore in foreign exchange and generated payments exceeding ?1.66 lakh crore to farmers.The Centre reiterated its commitment to fuel quality, transparent testing and consumer protection.

Women's Commission Slams Inaction Against IVF Centres in Illegal Egg Collection Case

Demands Immediate Investigation into Hospitals and Fertility Centres Facing Allegations

Hyderabad, TRINET NEWS, November 07:

The Telangana State Women's Commission expressed serious dissatisfaction over the alleged failure of authorities to initiate action against hospitals, IVF centresandlaboratories accused of involvement in the illegal collection of eggs from economicallydisadvantagedwomen.Commission Chairperson Nerella Sharada questioned why cases had reportedly been registered only against certain agents while medical institutions and individuals named by victims hadnotfacedsimilaraction.According to the Commission, several affected women mentioned Indira IVF Centre, Narmada Fertility Centre, Oasis Fertility Centre, Sadguru ART Centre and Padmaja Fertility Centre during their interactions with the Chairperson. They also identified a person named Dr. Hussain in connection with their complaints.The Commission expressed concern that authorities had reportedly neither traced Dr. Hussain nor registere a case against him.Sharada criticised the alleged negligence of health department officials, stating that earlier directions to conduct a comprehensive investigation had not resulted in satisfactory action.She emphasised that investigations should not be restricted to intermediaries and demanded a thorough examination of the possible involvement of hospitals, fertility centres, laboratories and other individuals.The Commission stressed that exploiting economically vulnerable women through unlawful medical practices would constitute a serious violation of their health, dignity and bodily autonomy.Sharada warned that unnecessary delays in investigating the complaints would not be tolerated and called for accountability among officials responsible for taking action.She directed the concerned authorities to conduct an impartial investigation, examine the allegations thoroughly and initiate appropriate legal proceedings against those found responsible.The Commission reiterated its commitment to protecting women's rights and ensuring justice for affected women.The allegations against the named institutions and individuals remain unproven pending investigation.

Godavari–Krishna River Linking Only Permanent Solution to Nalgonda Water Crisis: Kavitha
Questions Feasibility of Yedula–Dindi Water Diversion; Demands Completion of Pending Irrigation Projects

Nalgonda, TRINET NEWS, November 07:

Telangana Rakshana Sena Chief Kalvakuntla Kavitha asserted that linking the Godavari and Krishna rivers would provide a permanent solution to irrigation shortages and water-related problemsinNalgondadistrict.Addressing a presentation on irrigation projects at Dindi Reservoir on Saturday, Kavitha questioned the feasibility of transporting water from Yedula to Dindi, citing technical, geographical and operational challenges.She alleged that modifications to the Yellur pump house design had adversely affected the Palamuru–Rangareddy Lift Irrigation Project. She warned that constructing additional pumping facilities without comprehensive technical studies could create further complications.Kavitha proposed completing the Baswapur Reservoir under the Kaleshwaram project and diverting Godavari waters through Mallanna Sagar and Baswapur towards Nalgonda.She suggested that the proposed route could facilitate water supply to Shivannagudem Reservoir through gravity-based systems.Criticising the government for allegedly neglecting partially completed irrigation projects, she demanded the speedy completion of Baswapur, Shivannagudem and Kishtarayapalli reservoirs.Kavitha stressed that bringing adequate river water to Nalgonda would help address the district's long-standing fluoride-related drinking water problems.She also cautioned against creatingdisputesbetweenMahabubnagar and Nalgonda districts over Krishna water allocations.Expressing concern over possible drought conditions, Kavitha demanded compensation of ?25,000 per acre for farmers suffering crop losses and urged the government to ensure adequate irrigation water and fertiliser supplies.She criticised the Congress government over alleged unfulfilled election promises and questioned the BRS's effectiveness as the principalopposition.Acknowledging mistakes during the previous BRS administration, Kavitha expressed regret over her association with certain decisions.She urged the government to prioritise sustainable water management, complete pending irrigation projects and protect farmers' interests across Telangana.
